RAGELAND AGAIN A WINNER.

He Gets the First Race by a Neck
—My Lady Beats Riverside in the Second.

RACE TRACK, MONMOUTH PARK.
July 27.—Racing was continued here to-day, in the presence of a fair-sized crowd. Over 5,000 people thoroughly enjoyed the afternoon's sport.

The weather was delightfully cool and fresh, and the track was in fine condition. This Association certainly must have a pull with the weather clerk, since the meeting began there has not been one rainy day. Showers have been plentiful, but as a rule they do not visit the track until the crowds are safely on their way home.

George Woodcock, the Western plunger, bet a lot of money on Rageland in the opening event. He forecasted Mike Dwyer in the betting, and that gentleman bet the amount of the purse on Sir Matthew, for a place. Dwyer's money the bookies kept, but Woodcock's they had to disburse with generous interest. The latter made a big winning.

Rageland had no easy victory, Julien forcing him to a hard drive, and he only won by a narrow margin. The Ironmaster was third.

Riverside's race in the second event on the program proved him a great many degrees in the estimation of the talent. He was played to beat Hyde, but a few days ago, but ran a poor race.

To day he met a far different class, and if he was the colt he is claimed to be, he would have repaid him. He was never in the hunt, however.

My Lady, an outsider, even the race in a head, but she was not the favorite. Had N. Williams, on the latter, been able to hit his horse even a little bit he would have won. The colt, with the Empire Stable's two-year-old, Micmac Queen was a good third. She runs as though she had too much racing.

Red Banner, the favorite, won the third race by a narrow margin. He looked to be winning easily going by the stand, but in the last sixteenth corner went after her with such a rattle that Lamley had to work hard to win by a neck. Treasure was a poor third.

RACES AT BRIGHTON BEACH.
Uncle Sam Wins the First Event To-Day, Anglo the Second.

RACE TRACK, BRIGHTON BEACH.
July 27.—Contrary to expectations, the track here to-day was in a splendid condition. The high wind that has been blowing all the morning dried it out wonderfully, and only in spots here and there are there any visible signs of yesterday's heavy rain.

The weather was simply delightful, and a very large crowd turned out to witness the sport.

The card was a heavy one and promised rare sport. In only one race was there any amount of scratching included in. That was in the third race, a five-furlong dash, and the presence of the Grandstand, out over half of the original fifteen named to start.

The fourth race of the program, having such good ones as Billy B. Cottonwood, Jack, and Remorse in it, had received liberal support and furnished a good contest.

The talent went badly wrong in the opening race. They made Uncle a favorite, but after getting five fourths, the best of the start, but he was not the favorite.

UP GO THE PRICES.
The Street Cheerful Over the Day on 'Change.

A General Advance Throughout the List Before Closing.

The Clearing-House Loan Committee
Issues $1,350,000.

There was a kaleidoscopic change in the stock market this afternoon when delivery hour passed without the announcement of failures.

Strong houses put their shoulders to the wheel, and in a jiffy prices went whirling on the up.

The stock from the lowest figures of the morning was 3 in Manhattan, 3-1/2 in Lackawanna, 6 in Lake Shore, 5-1/2 in Western Union, 5 in Omaha, 5-1/2 in Lead, 6 in American Cotton Oil, 6-1/2 in Chesapeake, 3-1/2 in Rock Island, 4-1/2 in St. Paul, 3-1/2 in General Electric, 4 in Illinois Central, 6 in New York Central, 3 in New Jersey Central, 3-1/2 in United States Rubber, and 3-1/2 in Erie.

The demand for stocks was stimulated by a drop in the rate for money to 6 percent, but the main cause for the rally was the absence of trouble among the clearing-houses.

Some of the leading stocks showing a slight decline and others an advance were: American Express, 112; United States Steel, 112; General Electric, 112; Western Union, 112; and Lake Shore, 112.

Transactions were not heavy, but the market showed considerable activity.

Shortly after the opening there was a rally all along the line of 1-1/2 to 1-3/4 percent from the first prices.

With the exception of Lackawanna, which was advanced, the price advanced, and a considerable degree of feverishness was manifested.

The opening was rather irregular, some of the leading stocks showing a slight decline and others an advance.

Execution To-Day.

LEAVING A GROANING VICTIM.

Murderer Finally Killed by the City Electric Light
Current.

THE SUFFERER A NEGRO.

Morphine and Chloroform Are Second Shock.

AUBURN, July 27.—An execution by the electric method took place at Auburn Prison to-day which marked a complete failure of the apparatus provided by the State, and which turned the scene in the death chamber into one of absolute horror for the spectators.

The murderer in hand was a colored convict, William O. Taylor, convicted of the cold-blooded killing of a fellow convict.

It was 12:30 o'clock when the Warden invited the witnesses to follow him to the death chamber.

The apparatus and the surroundings had a familiar look to those who had witnessed previous executions at Auburn. They were the same that Fitzsimmons looked upon for the last time only a month ago.

State Electrician Davis was at the electric cabinet, and his preliminary tests with the bank of incandescent lights showed a voltage of 1,200.

The two priests, three keepers and the condemned man came in from the adjoining room, and Taylor was immediately hustled into the chair and tightly clamped.

His face wore a look of determination with the tightly compressed. He carried a crucifix in his right hand.

He was dressed in black, and wore a new pair of prison-made shoes.

When all was ready the signal was given and the current was turned on. Taylor's body jerked back and he lay in the chair until the straps cracked, and simultaneously there was a crash, unlike anything ever heard before.

The strain upon the foot-rest had broken it and the underpinning of the chair gave way. The body sank to a reclining position, and the victim's feet were free.

The spectators were startled, but did not move. Everybody supposed the victim was dead from the first shock, when a strange noise was heard. Taylor had begun to gasp for breath and was seen to exude from his mouth.

25 FAMILIES BURNED OUT.
Fire Does $20,000 Damage to a Clinton Street Tenement.

Occupants Who Wanted to Save Their Goods Dragged Out.

Twenty-five families were rendered homeless by a fire which gutted the ten-story double brick tenement at 181 Clinton street shortly before 2 o'clock this afternoon.

Two occupants were slightly burned about the body by the flames, and the damage to the building and household effects will amount to $20,000.

The fire was caused by the explosion of an oil-stove in the apartment on the ground floor in the rear, occupied by Meyer Levinthal, a milk and butter dealer. The building contained sixteen families, and a rear building housed a like number of families.

When the fire broke out the occupants of the burning building were screaming and rushing pell mell in and out of the building which was almost completely in flames.

Chief Bonner and a half dozen enforcers had to drag many of the occupants out of the burning building, and were surrounded by a mob of curious onlookers.

Before the flames were put out they had gutted almost all the rear building, and were burning about the rear and body and were taken to a burning pile of debris, where the fire was kept.

Joseph Phillips, who lived on the first floor of the building, had his ears and hands severely scorched.

The burned building belonged to Moses Calancho, a tailor, 445 Grand street, and was insured. The twenty-five families whose household effects were destroyed were forced to find quarters elsewhere.

It will probably cost $1,000 to put the building in shape again.

After the fire had been put out it was reported that three children were missing, and were supposed to be in the burning building.

The search by the firemen, however, failed to reveal their whereabouts, and it is supposed that they were lost in the crowd.

Has France Backed Down?
Rumor That She Has Accepted
Slam's Territorial Proposals.

LONDON, July 27.—The Pall Mall Gazette this afternoon says:

"We learn from an authority that is deserving of the highest respect that the Franco-Siamese difficulty has been settled. France has agreed to accept Siam's proposals, and has abandoned her claims to the territory lying between the eighteenth and twenty-third parallels of latitude."

Pittsburg Phil Unable to Get Parvenue Ready for This Season's Racing.

SMALL FIELDS AT MONMOUTH.

Jockeys Billings and Richardson Fined for Being Late at the Post.

In one race at Monmouth yesterday there were only two starters. In another three went to the post, and three of the remaining four events had five starters each. In all there were twenty-nine horses in six races.

Management at Monmouth Park, however, appears to be on the same footing with the man who visits the races and congratulates himself on the fact that he didn't lose. It is no longer making any money. There is no reason why every day racing should be successful if the management can furnish good racing. On Monday, which is notoriously a bad day in the racing week, a very good crowd visited the track, attracted by the very excellent card. There is only one way to stop the grand stand benches at Monmouth, and that is to furnish good racing.

The management at Saratoga postponed racing yesterday because of rainstorm which visited the track early in the morning. The same management at Gutterburg last week postponed racing yesterday because of rainstorm which visited the track early in the morning. The same management at Gutterburg last week postponed racing yesterday because of rainstorm which visited the track early in the morning.

The spectacle of a horse winning by a length and a half, and a better one hard, was seen in the second race yesterday. Mike Dwyer bet on Stonewall, and the horse won by a length and a half. The colt is troubled with chronic colic, and the veterinary surgeon has advised that he be let up for a season.

A despatch from Montreal says it reported that the Dwyers are endeavoring to purchase a piece of property in the northwestern part of the city, for the purpose of establishing a racetrack. There is no word as to whether the project is being carried out.

Pittsburg Phil has given up all hope of getting Parvenue to the post this season. The colt is troubled with chronic colic, and the veterinary surgeon has advised that he be let up for a season.

Artillery and Equity were taken Saratoga yesterday by M. T. Downing. The experiment of stuffing cotton in the ears and tying them up was tried. La Misere, with no success, yesterday.

Lady Pulver's work through the stretch just before the last race was many a fallible to accept the 15 to 1 against her chances.

"Mose," as the stable boys called him, diminutive Benjamin, rode an excellent race on Heat 10.

The yearling colt by Muscovy, Col. Houlden, was destroyed at Brighton Beach yesterday. He was owned by Jimmy McLaughlin. The colt developed spinal meningitis, and dropping in the race, he was killed. His brother is valued at $30,000.

McCaferly gave the talent their best shot yesterday. Next time the colt will burn his fingers.

F. M. Taylor has sold the bay horse Bolanman to Capt. E. M. Maddox, $1,000.

The St. Louis Jockey Club demands show for the bookies privileges at the Fall meeting. Frank Shaw is after the privilege, and will probably get it.

Johnny Weber made his reappearance in the East yesterday. He is heavier than when he first came to the track, and his riding is also improved. He had the mount in Trinculo yesterday.

Trainer Hadden, the little English man, who came over with Col. Norton last Spring, returned to his native country yesterday. Four of the boys came over with him also, returning to the United States. The boys were engaged to ride for Pittsburg Phil.

The Executive Committee of the Bookmaker Fred Lowe an investigation into the charges alleged to be made against him by ex-Jockey Conroy, owner of the Bathing Machine, who was the owner of the horse and was not satisfied with McDermott's explanation. The charges were made in July, when Ed Kearney beat him, and was not satisfied with McDermott's explanation. The charges were made in July, when Ed Kearney beat him, and was not satisfied with McDermott's explanation.

Billings, who rode Hlawasse, Richardson on Laurel, were each $25 for being late at the post.

When "Father Bill" Daly bet on a horse it comes pretty near a lay down. He bet that on Alcidon.

Bitzen revealed in the going yesterday that he was a very good horse, and simply sat out all the way won as he pleased.
